I Create Newsletter: October 2016

Congratulations, Anuja Khemka, philanthropy expert and consultant, and sponsor of I Create SAFAR, Mumbai!

Anuja Khemka, a philanthropy expert and consultant and past Vice President at the JPMorgan Chase Global Philanthropy group, has spent years working with Non-Profits evaluating proposals and helping partners shape projects worthy of corporate funding. She has started a new periodic column on Forbes, a leading American business magazine which tell the real stories about I Create entrepreneurs turning their obstacles into opportunities.

These compelling stories of struggle and transformation come from our programs in Mumbai.

The link to the story of Amit who overcame his disability and learnt to run a profitable business after the I Create training is given below.

Feedback Corner

.... Youths are facing problem of unemployment. Your organization is helping youth to create jobs for themselves. Usually, youth don't have confidence and knowledge about starting a business. You are helping us to get an idea of business and how to manage.-- Nisha M V, Student, Govt.Polytechnic, Chinthamani

I am really surprised to know that we have acquired so much of knowledge in this short time, so I feel that we have learnt all that we learn in 3 years. --- Student, Govt.Polytechnic, Bangalore

Very difficult concepts have been taught in an easy manner so that we understand them. Most of us have been motivated to do business after attending this workshop. Sanganna, Govt. Polytechnic, Chintamani

" I was in a dilemma about what to do after completing Diploma. Now after this CMS program, I am equipped with all the necessary information required to start a business. In future instead of a labour, I will become an employer. I have changed my mindset now and lost interest in becoming a government employee. I thank E Cell and Business Incubation Center". - Santoshkumar, Student, Govt. Polytechnic, Vijayapura
